Asian American Communities and Race Relations, ASAMST W20AC 2018
Four (4) semester credits

Course Description

This is a multidisciplinary course that utilizes and integrates the disciplines of sociology, political science and history to provide students with an understanding of contemporary Asian American community issues in the context of race relations. It will study the commonalities and differences between Asian Americans and other race and ethnic groups so that students will be able to develop an integrative analysis of race and ethnicity beyond common stereotypes. Introduced will be different social theories that explain the current status of Asian Americans and the interrelationship between the Asian American community, nation and world. The class will have the opportunity to analyze the conditions for solidarity and difference between various ethnic and racial groups. Important here will be the question of agency—what individuals and groups have historically done to build a multiracial democracy. Asian American efforts for social and human rights activism will be analyzed in relation to the Civil Rights, Black Power, Native American and Chicano movements for social justice. Subsequently, the course will look at the identity formations and solidarities across race and ethnic lines that met the needs of the time. These culture-making activities have been an integral part of developing and defining community. Students will be encouraged to become participant-observers in these endeavors. By the end of the semester class members will have the tools and grounding to become community analysts and problem solvers.

6. Complete writing assignments

Weeks A and B

Each week of the course is divided into Week A and Week B (e.g. Week 1A, Week 1B, Week 2A, Week 2B, etc.). The grouping indicates topics related to one area of study, typically with readings, lectures and various kinds of assignments. Each Week A and B contains a list of Learning Outcomes and your assignments reflect the learning activities to perform to reach those outcomes. For an at-a-glance view of due dates and projects, refer to the course Calendar.

Note that you will need to complete all of the learning activities and assignments for Week A by 11:59 pm (PDT) Wednesday and all of learning activities and assignments for Week B by 11:59 pm (PDT) Saturday of the assigned week.

Reading Assignments
Each Week A and Week B includes assigned readings relevant to each topic covered.

Multimedia Lectures

Recorded lectures support your readings and assignments but also contain additional material that may be included in the exams and are relevant to your assignments. Each lecture has been broken into topic-focused segments. You are expected to take notes while viewing the lectures as you would in a regular classroom.

Lecture Quizzes

Each Week A and Week B includes a Lecture Quiz that is largely based on the lecture viewing for the week, but may also include questions from the assigned readings. You will have 20 minutes to complete the quiz and are allowed two (2) attempts. Your highest score of the two attempts will be kept for your grade.

The Lecture Quiz for Week A should be completed by 11:59 pm (PDT) Wednesday and for Week B by 11:59 pm (PDT) Saturday of the assigned week. Note that this means you will complete two (2) quizzes for each week of instruction.

Discussion Forums

Week A and B Discussions

Each Week A and Week B contains a discussion in which we ask you to write reflectively and critically about the discussion topic. Your posts and responses are considered your class participation and represent a unique opportunity for you to exchange views, share experiences and resources, and ensure your understanding of the course material.

You will post your discussion responses to your pre-assigned Discussion group. When you navigate to a discussion forum, you will automatically be taken to your group's instance of that discussion and to your group's space within the course. When finished with the discussion, you will need to navigate from your group space back to the main course space in order to continue participating in other aspects of the course.

While the Discussion assignments are asynchronous (not real time), you will be expected to make an initial posting and respond to one other student by 11:59 pm (PDT) Wednesday for Week A and 11:59 pm for Week B. Note that this means you will complete two (2) Discussion Forum assignments for each week of instruction. Continued participation throughout the remainder of the week is highly encouraged. See the instructions within each discussion forum for further guidelines.

Questions and Answers Forum

Please use this forum to post questions about the course or topics being studied. The questions will be answered in the forum by the course instructor or GSI. This way, all students benefit from seeing the answers. This is the preferred place to ask and get answers to questions that are likely to be of general interest.

Field Trips

There are two (2) Field Trip assignments. For these assignments, you will attend an event relevant to the course content and write a 2-page reflection. In your reflection, include what the event was about, audience make-up and response, and relation to course content. Also include a photo or flyer from the event with your reflection.

You must complete both Field Trips before the Midterm Exam, though you can complete and submit them any time before the due date.

You can use the following Bay Area resources to find an appropriate event. For students outside of the Bay Area, contact the instructor and GSI to find alternatives.

- Center for Asian American Media
- Chinese Historical Society of America
- Eastwind Books of Berkeley
- Manilatown Heritage Foundation
- Oakland Chinatown
- San Francisco Chinatown
- San Francisco Japantown: Japanese Chamber of Commerce of Northern California

Community Comparison Sketch

Visit a local Asian American community and analyze what defines it as a community (i.e. location, history, institutions, culture, language, and peoples). Compare your visited community with the community you grew up in and reflect upon how the two communities are similar and/or different in their make-up in a post to your Group Project discussion forum on bCourses. This Community Comparison Sketch is the foundation of your Group Project (explained further below). Your Community Comparison Sketch may then be incorporated into your Group Project.

You are welcome to choose any community you think would be interesting to you and relevant to the course. Previously visited communities in the Bay Area include: San Francisco Little Saigon, Oakland Koreatown, Oakland and San Francisco Chinatown, Pacific East Mall in El Cerrito. For students outside of the Bay Area, contact the instructor and GSI to find alternatives.

Group Project

In groups of 6-8, you will create a shareable PowerPoint presentation connecting the communities visited in the Community Comparison Sketch to the course materials. You will work on the project in your randomly assigned groups, found on bCourses as your Group Project group. Then share the PowerPoint presentation with the entire class by posting a link in the designated discussion forum. Half of the groups will post their PowerPoint presentation the week before the Midterm and the other half will post their PowerPoint presentation the week before the Final Exam.

The PowerPoint presentation should include:

- An introduction of each group members’ community with the community visited in the Community Comparison Sketch
- A wiki entry on historypin for relevant communities
- An explanation of how the Community Comparison Sketches connect to themes in the class using excerpts from readings in Weeks 1-4 (pre-Midterm groups) or Weeks 5-8 (pre-Final groups)
- Current events if relevant
- Discussion questions and summary

Midterm Exam

You will complete a midterm exam in Week 4B. The exam covers the content in Weeks 1A to 4A and is comprised of two parts.
Midterm Part 1 includes two (2) essay questions, which you will be given at the start of Week 4A. By the end of Week 4B, you will need to upload your responses in bCourses.

Midterm Part 2 includes multiple choice questions and you will have 90 minutes to complete. The exam has a time limit, and you must take it within the prescribed 24-hour window. See the Calendar for the date.

While the exam is considered an open-book examination, it cannot be taken collaboratively with other students. The learning management system keeps detailed records of logins and submissions. Please review the ethics guideline for online courses provided at the beginning of this class and the UC Berkeley code of conduct.

Research Paper

There are two options for the research paper. Both options require you to submit a 2-page topic proposal before submitting your final paper.

Option A

Write an 8-10-page, double-spaced, issue-based investigative paper on a specific social problem that affects the Asian American community. The paper should include a minimum of five (5) foot-noted book sources outside of the course reading, interviews, and other research materials. You should also incorporate class materials (readings and lectures). All of the research material must be included in a bibliography.

Option B

Conduct a community work project in an off-campus setting, documented in a work log, and write a 6-page reflection. Choose to work with an organization that works directly with an Asian American community for a minimum of four (4) sessions. Keep a work log of each session that includes a minimum 1-page summary of what you did during the session and your interaction with community members. You will submit the work log as an appendix to your reflection. In the reflection, evaluate your work with the organization and more generally the organization’s work in the community, connecting your experience to the course topics and materials. Though you do not need to include any outside research for this option, you should cite, footnote, and include a bibliography of relevant class materials (lectures and readings).

Final Exam

Your Final Exam has two parts: A take home exam and a 3-hour, closed-book exam on paper. There will be no make-up exam. You must take the Final Exam in person on campus or arrange to have the exam proctored if you cannot come to campus. Review the Proctor Info on the left navigation menu. Off-site proctor applications must be submitted prior to July 13th, 2018.

This year's Final Exam will be held on August 9, 2018 from 10 am to 1 pm on campus. Those taking the Final Exam on campus must print out the provided scantron form in bCourses and bring it to the in person meeting. Everyone must submit the take home portion of the exam via bCourses by 11:59pm (PDT) August 10, 2018. If you miss taking the final or try to take it in a manner for which you have not received permission, you will fail this class automatically.

Reminder: Your Course End Date

Your course will end on August 10. As you work through the course, please keep the end date in mind, and if you want to save any commentary or assignments for future reference, please make sure to print or copy/paste those materials before your access ends.

It is important to note that not all components are graded online and included in the online course grade book. Because of this, the online course grade book will not display your overall course grade at any given time or your final grade. It should simply be used to assess your performance on the components that are included within it: the discussions, written assignments and midterm exam. Your final letter grade will be mailed to you by the registrar's office.

Late Work Policy

Any assignment submitted late will have a half-point deduction for each day late unless an exception has already been granted by the instructor.
Course Policies

Promptness

Homework assignments and discussion forum postings all have specific final due dates and times. You will not receive full credit if assignments are submitted after the indicated due date.

Further, each online activity must be submitted through the course website by the due date. Fax or mail submission will not be accepted. Students who wait until the final hours prior to a submission deadline risk having problems with their ISP, hardware, software, or various other site access difficulties. Therefore, it is advisable to submit assignments and tests through the course website early. The multiple days allowed for submission are to accommodate the busy schedules of working professionals, not to accommodate procrastination. Students should plan accordingly and get into the habit of checking the course website several times each week, and submitting and posting early.

Honor Code

The student community at UC Berkeley has adopted the following Honor Code: "As a member of the UC Berkeley community, I act with honesty, integrity, and respect for others." The expectation is that you will adhere to this code.

Collaboration and Independence

Reviewing lecture and reading materials and studying for exams can be enjoyable and enriching things to do with fellow students. This is recommended. However, unless otherwise instructed, homework assignments and the online exam are to be completed independently and materials submitted as homework should be the result of one’s own independent work.

Cheating

A good lifetime strategy is always to act in such a way that no one would ever imagine that you would even consider cheating. Anyone caught cheating on a quiz or exam in this course will receive a failing grade in the course and will also be reported to the University Center.
for Student Conduct. The expectation is that you will be honest in the taking of exams.

Plagiarism

To copy text or ideas from another source without appropriate reference is plagiarism and will result in a failing grade for your assignment and usually further disciplinary action. For additional information on plagiarism and how to avoid it, explore the resources linked below:

UC Berkeley Library Citation Page, Plagiarism Section
GSI Guide for Preventing Plagiarism

Academic Integrity and Ethics

Cheating on exams and plagiarism are two common examples of dishonest, unethical behavior. Honesty and integrity are of great importance in all facets of life. They help to build a sense of self-confidence, and are key to building trust within relationships, whether personal or professional. There is no tolerance for dishonesty in the academic world, for it undermines what we are dedicated to doing - furthering knowledge for the benefit of humanity.

Incomplete Course Grade

Students who have substantially completed the course but for serious extenuating circumstances, are unable to complete the final exam, may request an Incomplete grade. This request must be submitted in writing or by email to the GSI and course instructor. You must provide verifiable documentation for the seriousness of the extenuating circumstances. According to the policy of the college, Incomplete grades must be made up within the first three weeks of the next semester.

Students with Disabilities

Any students requiring course accommodations due to a physical, emotional, or learning disability must contact the Disabled Students' Program (DSP). They will review all requests on an individual basis.
• Request your Disabled Student Program Specialist to send the instructor a formal request before the official course start date by email.
• In addition, notify the instructor and your Online Learning Support Specialist, which accommodations you would like to use.
  o Your Online Learning Support Specialist is Tracie Allen and her email is summer_online_support@berkeley.edu

End of Course Evaluation

Before your course end date, please take a few minutes to participate in the Course Evaluation to share your opinions about this course. You will be receiving the Course Evaluation via email. The evaluation does not request any personal information, and your responses will remain strictly confidential. A link to the evaluation will be made available via bCourses on July 26, 2018 and will be available until August 8, 2018.
You will also be emailed a link to the course evaluation.
